Hi [REDACTED]

I was going to call you, but thought that you might appreciate the information in writing so that you could give the matter some thought and check it out with others.

[REDACTED] with my help, is forming a task force to investigate and determine the advisability and feasibility of installing solar panels at St. John's. Apparently, St. John's looked into doing this some years ago and found that the cost would be prohibitive. But solar costs have come down and there are certain players in the market who may be willing to assume the front-end costs in exchange for a monthly payment commitment. From St. John's perspective, the monthly payment would have to be no greater (and preferably less) than what it currently costs to provide electrical power to a comparable portion of our facilities.

[REDACTED] specifically mentioned your name as someone who might have an interest in serving on the committee due to your current work affiliation. Here are the names of individuals who have agreed to serve on the committee:

Please give this some prayerful consideration and let me know if you are interested or need answers to certain questions before you can respond.

Thanks for considering this on top of all the other wonderful contributions you make to our life at St. John's.
